Drastic Steps To Be Taken In Preliminary Battle On Oil Embargo

ROME, Dec. 3.—Meeting under Premier Mussolini in the second special session in four days, the Italian cabinet today decided to punish persons acting to thwart the government's anti-sanctions program.

Fighting back at the sanctions more than 50 nations of the world are applying and will apply against Italy, the cabinet also ordered new protective measures to offset the effect of the embargoes upon Italian trade.

Penalties Certain.

The cabinet announced "adequate penalties" would be inflicted on persons distributing in the commodity or money markets in violation of the new import and export regulations, and on persons violating the Italian embargo on dealings in securities and currencies.

The cabinet decided also that all

PA NEW OBSERVES

Lieutenant of police Ralph Criswell brought down a four point buck near Marionville, and Police Radio Technician Wayne Sines shot a red fox also near Marionville yesterday according to reports at the police station today.

William M. Nunn, of Edison avenue, returned home last evening from Musette, Pa., with a nice buck, which he shot about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. In the same party with Nunn were Sam Moore, and M. K. Gilliland.

Karl R. Douglass, of 1238 State street, has put in his claim for one of the first hunters to bag a buck during the current season. Hunting with a party of local men in Potter county, he bagged a Y-buck at 9 o'clock Monday morning, returning home with his trophy last evening.

Pa. News learns of one hunter who drove about a hundred miles from New Castle yesterday to hunt deer, and had the good fortune to see a nice big buck walk up and stop about 30 yards away. He drew an aim on the deer, but got only a faint click when he pulled the trigger. The bolt of his rifle had been clogged with grease which had stiffened up in the cold and would not fire. The next time he goes out, he vows he will see that his rifle is in better condition.

An unusual complaint is this one, heard recently from a number of residents of the downtown area. It concerns those motorists who bring their dogs along downtown and lock the cars with the dog inside and leave for lengthy shopping tours or possibly the entire day. In one case recently a pup set up a chilling howl and kept at it for over six hours. In another case a dog was forgotten for about three hours, forgotten by everyone except the neighbors where its master's car was parked. It barked itself almost hoarse.

Will Seek Expansion Of U.S. Defense Plans

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—The largest peace-time military appropriation in this country's history was planned by congressional leaders today as threats of war engulfed the leading powers of the world.

Convinced the United States must act immediately to strengthen its defense, Chairman Timpan Parks of Arkansas, of the house committee handling the war department supply bill, ordered his group to assemble Dec. 16 for hearings on the measure.

To Seek Extensions
Parks said he would ask for a liberal increase over the $424,700,000 allocated to the war department in 1935. The new military program would embrace:

Expansion of the Army Air Corps;
Fortification of the Pacific coast and southwest border.
Additional fortifications at the Panama Canal and in Hawaii, and, increased munitions supplies.

Pump-Priming Moves Of Federal Government Near End Warns President

By GEORGE DURO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 3.—President Roosevelt is taking a variety of occasions here in his adopted state of Georgia to focus national attention on those social experiments sponsored by the administration which he considers have turned out successfully.

A rural resettlement community has been visited. The presidential stamp of approval was placed on the work of transplanting families to new farm communities and rehabilitating them with federal money and supervision.

The "bright, cheerful buildings" of a negro slum clearance project in Atlanta inspired Mr. Roosevelt to say that "just around the corner—and we know how to get around the corner—stands a tribute to useful work under government supervision" in the matter of giving the less fortunate a "decent roof over their heads."

To Visit CCC Camp
Before the week is over, the president is expected to visit Camp Meriwether, a CCC camp located just off the Warm Springs foundation. Headed by Major Russell Reynolds, a regular army officer, this (Continued On Page Two)

Hint Fraud In Recent Election

Ballot Box In First Precinct, Fifth Ward, Ordered Brought Into Court

NO SPECIFIC CHARGES MADE

Alleging that they have reason to believe that there was fraud, although not manifest in the general return of votes cast, or in the marking of ballots, Ralph Largo, Thomas White and Frank Macchia have presented to Judge R. L. Hildebrand a petition asking that the ballot box in the first precinct of the fifth ward be opened.

Judge Hildebrand granted the petition and directed Sheriff Edward H. Pritchard to bring in the ballot box. This was done this morning and attorneys James E. Chambers, Frank O. Moretti and Errol Fuller were appointed to count the entire vote cast in the first precinct.

Before this was done $50 was deposited with Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell to pay the expenses provided no irregularities are found. If irregularities are found then the county pays the expense.

The petition asking for the recount does not specify that it is being asked in behalf of any particular candidate.

The attorneys appointed to count the vote are now checking the ballots. The work will likely take them all afternoon, so that the result cannot be announced today.

College Youth Dies Suddenly

Herbert S. Christman, Jr., Dies Suddenly Last Night At Penn State

HAD JUST RETURNED FROM VACATION HERE

A heart attack brought death to Herbert S. Christman, Jr., aged 20 years, of 1303 Albert street, last night at 11:45 o'clock, less than seven hours after he had returned to resume his studies at Penn State College after passing the Thanksgiving vacation here.

News of his sudden death comes as a shock to all New Castle and leaves his family prostrated with grief. Although the young man was known to have had high blood pressure, his condition was not considered serious and he had apparently been in the best of health when he started back to college, where he was a junior.

With Wilmer B. (Pete) Kariher, of 115 Englewood avenue, Robert Golder, of East Winter avenue, and Charles Campbell, of Dewey avenue, who were his Sigma Nu fraternity brothers, "Herb" as he was affectionately known, left here for State College, Pa., Monday at noon in the automobile owned and driven by young Kariher.

NEW ATTACK IS MADE ON LAVAL

Radical Wing Seeks To Oust Present Government Of France

(International News Service)
PARIS, Dec. 3.—The threat of an armed factional struggle bordering on civil war was hurled at Premier Pierre Laval in the chamber of deputies today as the radical wing began its strongest drive to oust the present government on a "defense of the republic" issue.

Twice Laval has won votes of confidence from a turbulent chamber on his "save the franc" record, but his downfall on the question of Fascist organizations was widely feared. Charging the republic is endangered, Henri Guernut, radical Socialist deputy, demanded immediate dissolution of parliament so the people could record their votes on the Croix De Feu and similar organizations.

Philadelphia Gunman Slain

Gangster "Taken For Ride" By Rivals—Fear Second Gangster Also Slain

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—Gangland guns barked the end of the trail today for "Pete" Ford, one of the last of Philadelphia's big time gangster gunmen of the prohibition era.

Three bullet wounds in his head and two in his chest, the body of the reputed arch-enemy of the slain Mickey Duffy, one-time beer baron, was tossed by the killers from a speeding sedan on a quiet city street.

Frightened residents who saw the lifeless form in a gutter after the big car roared onward gave police the tip-off to the "rubbing out" of Ford, whose identity was established by his name-sewed in the lining of a blood-soaked coat.

Ford's exit via the one-way "ride" came almost 24 hours to the day after the executions of Marty Farrell and Francis Wiley for the kidnap murder of William (Big Bull) (Continued On Page Two)

Plan To Increase British Defense Forces Says King

Parliament Hears Statement From King George As Session Opens

DECLARES BRITAIN SUPPORTS LEAGUE

Every Effort Will Be Made For Peace, Parliament Is Informed

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Declaring it "urgently necessary that deficiencies in my defense forces should be made good," King George today advised parliament that his ministers would soon present plans for increasing Britain's fighting forces.

A renewed declaration that Britain will continue firmly to support the League of Nations in its sanctions against Italy, at the same time continuing Italy-Ethiopian peace efforts, was also emphatically made in the king's address.

In the absence of the king, due to the death of his sister, Princess Victoria, today, the speech was read by Viscount Hailsham, the lord chancellor, before a drab House of Lords and the new House of Commons, swept into power on just such policies as the king expressed.

After the usual opening reference: "My relations with foreign powers continue friendly," the king's address, which was approved by the cabinet yesterday, continued:

Support League
"My government's foreign policy will, as heretofore, be based on firm support of the League of Nations. The government will remain prepared to fulfill, in cooperation with other members of the league, the obligations of its covenant. In particular, they are deter-

Claim Italians Have Evacuated Several Towns

(International News Service)
ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 3.—Ethiopian authorities today claimed officially that the Italian forces which had been occupying Gorrabel and Gerlogubi, on the southern front, had evacuated.

With drawing from these two towns, perhaps the most strategic on the southern front, the Italians retreated to positions nearer the Italian Somaliland border, the Ethiopians declared.

If the claim is true, the Italians have abandoned the line from Ual- through Gerlogubi to Corrahel, which they established soon after the outbreak of the war, and now are driven back in a move putting them where they were more than two months ago.

Today's official announcement climaxed increasingly frequent Ethiopian reports of important Italian reverses on the southern front. Some observers here believed the Italian campaign in the south has collapsed in failure during the past few weeks.

Claims Denied
Rome, Dec. 3.—Official Ethiopian claims in Addis Ababa that Italian forces have evacuated Gorrabel and Gerlogubi on the southern front were met with emphatic official Italian denial today.

Sensational Attempt To Escape State's Prison Fails For Five Convicts

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Dec. 3.—A convict and an innocent man were killed, two convicts were wounded and two others captured today when five desperate felons escaped from the State prison in one of the most desperate breaks ever attempted at the institution.

A small army of police, reinforced by prison guards and Maine railroad officials rushed to the Charlestown district and bullets whistled through the cold air for an hour and 24 minutes before the last of the fugitives was shot down or captured.

The five desperados roared through the great rear gate of the granite prison wall in a truck after slugging the driver, Edward J. Shaughnessy.

Slugs Driver To Death
As they careened away they smashed into a truck outside driven by Louis Richards, of Somerville. The trucks were locked together by the force of the impact.

Enraged by the accident, one of the convicts brutally slugged Richards to death with an iron bar.

Police began swarming into the area and prison guards began firing from towers on the wall.

Phil Naples, a convict from Worcester county, was dropped, fatally wounded, by a neatly placed shot from the prison wall.

Homestead Man Is Killed By Bandit, Find Wallet Missing

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Two dying words, "holdup, holdup," and two empty glasses on a bar were the only clues detectives had today as they sought the murderer of Dennis Creedon, 73, during a robbery in his barroom in Homestead.

Attracted by the shot, the victim's family found his slumped behind the bar. He died on the way to a hospital.

When authorities arrived they found nothing in the barroom disturbed and $53 was still in the cash register. Creedon's wallet, however, was gone.

RAPS GOVERNMENT RED TAPE

Science Advisory Board Makes Report To President Roosevelt

BUREAUCRACY IS CRITICIZED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Government bureaucracy, inefficiency, and red tape were vigorously criticized in a report submitted to President Roosevelt by his science advisory board.

The non-partisan board, composed of 15 of the nation's leading scientists in all fields, was appointed by the president on July 31, 1933, to report on the relations between science and the government.

Striking out against government bureaucracy in the opening pages of its report, the board criticized existing methods of appointment and selection of bureau chiefs and the lack of coordination between their work.

The report said:

"It is a commonplace that projects are not always dropped when completed; that, to say the least, coordination is not always welcomed; that personnel is not as generally hired and competent as it should be; that duplication of effort amounts in some instances to a disease; that the effective relation of government to non-governmental agencies is not a lively concern of some scientific bureaus; and that the best advice is not always sought in the public interest."

WILL SEEK EXPANSION OF U. S. DEFENSE PLANS

army commanders from the areas to be fortified. Major General Hugh A. Drum, of the Hawaiian department; Lytle Brown, commandant at the Panama Canal Zone; Paul B. Malone, of the Ninth Corps Area at San Francisco and Johnson Hagood, of the Eighth Corps Area at San Antonio, have been asked to outline a defense program for their respective regions.

A thorough inspection of domestic and insular fortifications has convinced Parks that the Pacific coast, Hawaii and the Panama Canal are vulnerable to attack.

"To Make Hawaii Impregnable"

"Before we get through we hope the Hawaiian Islands will be as impregnable as Gibraltar," he said. "We also must have defenses for the west coast cities. There never have been any out there. We want to start in California and later consider Oregon, Washington and Alaska."

Construction of large concrete and steel emplacements for the army's giant 16-inch guns will be a part of the expansion program.

Capable of shelling enemy vessels 27 miles off shore, these guns are considered vital to coast defense.

Inauguration of a five-year military aircraft construction plan may be encompassed in the new army bill.

At present the Air Corps has 1196 airplanes that could be used in case of war, with an additional 314 under construction. In place of the recommendations of the Baker board which would build the army air fleet up to 2320 planes within three years, army officials favor construction of 800 planes annually.

At the end of five years this would give the army 3000 modern combat planes in addition to a considerable number that could be used for transport and training purposes.

Parks anticipates little opposition to increased expenditures for the military establishment.

"With every foreign country talking about war the American people are convinced the United States cannot sit back and do nothing about her defense," he asserted.

camp is a model one in every sense of the word.

During the course of a visit here by Dr. A. E. Morgan, head of TVA, the president tentatively accepted an invitation to dedicate Norris Dam at Muscle Shoals next year.

Norris Dam is the Keystone of the administration's big "yardstick" experiment in the Tennessee Valley to make cheaper power available in both rural and urban communities.

Next Monday, at Chicago, President Roosevelt is expected to personally extoll the benefits of controlled crop production under AAA and defend the processing tax from current attacks. This will be before the American Farm Bureau Federation on its round-about way home to Washington.

To Defend Policies

All of these specific defenses of his alphabetical agencies follow the general speech in Atlanta last Friday in which he ran the whole gamut of his administration and outlined the platform he will stand upon next year for re-election.

Mr. Roosevelt is hammering away consistently at the idea that the time has come for the federal government to get out of many of its pump priming activities and turn the problems back to state, county, municipal and private enterprise.

At the Pine Mountain Valley Rural Community, 2 miles back of here, the president specifically warned that the time had come for the counties to take up the burden of rehabilitating their distressed farm families. The federal government recognized, he said, there were probably a million such families with a right to a better place to live—"but obviously the government can't care for a million families because there isn't that much money in the treasury."

"Before we get through we hope the Hawaiian Islands will be as impregnable as Gibraltar," he said. "We also must have defenses for the west coast cities. There never have been any out there. We want to start in California and later consider Oregon, Washington and Alaska."

Construction of large concrete and steel emplacements for the army's giant 16-inch guns will be a part of the expansion program.

Peek Refuses To Stand For Hull's Trade Policy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull's international trade policy today cost the administration another nationalistic-minded government executive.

George N. Peek's walk-out as president of the export-import bank marked the climax of his outspoken irreconcilability with Secretary Hull's policy of generalizing American trade concessions to all foreign nations. The trustees of the bank have asked Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, to take over Peek's duties.

Peek was the boldest and most consistent administration critic of Hull's foreign trade policy.

Opposes Policies

He vigorously opposed the policy of extending to all foreign nations the concessions which this government granted in trade agreements with individual countries. He argued consistently that the concessions should be confined to those nations which gave the United States definite concessions in return.

Hull held this policy inconsistent with his hope of inducing the world to restore the free flow of international trade through general reduction of tariff barriers under the most favored nation treatment doctrine.

Hull's internationalism in this same economic field caused Raymond Moley, one of President Roosevelt's chief advisers in the early days of the administration, to resign as assistant secretary of state and leave the government.

With Peek and Moley out of the way, Hull now reigns supreme within the government in his efforts to restore international trade and develop foreign markets for American agricultural products through reciprocal trade agreements which permit an increased flow of foreign goods into this country.

The question uppermost in political circles here today was how many farm votes Peek's resignation would cost the administration. He has been credited with strong support in the farm belt and political observers awaited with interest to see whether he would join the ranks of Moley and some other in criticizing administration policies.

lege, and notified them that the trip had been made without mishap and that the condition of the roads had not been bad. He said that they had arrived at 5 o'clock, five hours after leaving New Castle.

The heart attack, it is believed came later at the Sigma Nu fraternity house, where Herbert resided. Physicians used a pump to an effort to revive the youth, but to no avail.

Herbert Christian was born in Washington, Pa., June 3, 1915, son of Herbert Spencer and Orilla Streator Christian and is survived by his parents, two brothers, Jack, who resides in Elizabeth, N. J., Frank, at home, two sisters, Mary, (known as Bonnie), and Patricia, both at home, and his grandmother, Mrs. Dora Streator, who also resides at the Christian home.

Home Is Quarantined

Herbert's sister, Bonnie, has been very ill with scarlet fever for some time, and the home is still quarantined, although her condition is now improved.

At New Castle High school Christian had been one of the most popular students. He had played on the varsity basketball team and was a student of ability with a scholastic ranking among the upper seventy in a class of over two hundred. He was graduated in the class of January, 1933, from the technical course, and the following spring entered the New Mexico School of Mines, at Socorro, New Mexico, where he passed his freshman college year.

For the past two years he had been at Penn State, and this year was a member of the junior class.

He was highly regarded in college and in the New Castle community; he was a member of the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be conducted on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock from the Jos. S. Rice Catholic chapel, this city. The body is to be brought from State College to the chapel tonight, and will remain there until time of interment, as the Christian home is under a scarlet fever quarantine.

Young Christian had passed his vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Campbell, 913 Dewey avenue, parents of his companion on yesterday's trip, Charles Campbell, a sophomore.

Peace Bargain Denied By Italy

(International News Service)

ROME, Dec. 3.—Italian official circles today categorically denied a report that Premier Mussolini had concluded a bargain with England for cessation of his Ethiopian campaign.

They also denied a report that the Italian advance had been halted owing to peace moves. A foreign office spokesman stated:

"While Italy is naturally always open to new proposals, the present pause is not necessarily connected with the possibility of any such move."

"The present slump in activities on our front is due merely to preparations for a big push which will soon take place."

ITALIAN CABINET PUSHES PROGRAM TO BEAT SANCTIONS

persons attempting to create "corners" in any commodity, trying to take other measures aimed at artificially raising prices, or attempting to otherwise disturb the market will be punished.

Nature of the penalties was not announced beyond the descriptive phrase "adequate."

Acting in anticipation of the oil embargo which the League of Nations is planning to direct against Italy, the cabinet ordered that Italian gas plants distill a fixed minimum of light oil from each ton of coal used.

To Fight Oil Embargo.

This added one more item to the list of measures, each in themselves of only minor importance but in the aggregate making a formidable anti-sanction defense, which Italy has devised to fight the projected oil embargo.

The price of gasoline and oil has soared to the sky. Consumption is strictly limited at home so that Italian tanks and airplanes in east Africa may have fuel and lubrication to battle Ethiopians. It is plain not a drop of oil is to be wasted anywhere in Italy.

The cabinet's statement no reference to foreign affairs, or the way, navy, or interior ministries. This was interpreted as being due to negotiations now proceeding regarding application of oil sanctions against Italy by the league. It was believed Italy desires to deal with a concrete fact rather than a mere project when it publicly announces a definite stand on the oil embargo crisis.

In some diplomatic quarters mild surprise was expressed at the cabinet's failure to refer in its communique to foreign policy or the international situation.

Miss Marie Hogue entertained a group of friends at a novel kid party, at her Castletown home on Monday evening, the affair proving a medium of announcing the marriage of Martha M. Swisher to William E. Lawton of Millville, Pa.

Kid games and chat, were the chief diversions, and later, a tempting repast was served, the appointments being appropriate to the occasion. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Jesse Hogue, with the menu.

The announcement news was cleverly scrolled on paper reading "Pat And Bill-Thanksgiving Day" tucked in a novel favor representing a tin soldier, holding a musket. The bride further revealed the facts that the wedding took place at 9:30 on the morning of November 28, in the Fifth Street Methodist church at Harrisburg, with the Rev. R. C. Morris of Howard, Pa., officiating, he being a close friend of the groom.

Table appointments, and the menu as well, was carried out to the Nth degree, in tones of green and silver, combining the nuptial idea, in a novel manner. As special guests, they had Mrs. Ada Woodling of San Jose, Calif., and Mrs. John Lind of Cambridge, house guests at the Magill residence. A handsome gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Magill at this time, in behalf of those surrounding them as a memento of the happy occasion. Afterwards, tables were set and a well planned covered dish supper was served. Two large birthday cakes, were used as centerpieces. Among the participants, the only out of town family, was Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White and children, Billie, Donna and Lee Roy, of Warren, O.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS OF WORK OF SEALS

Tuberculosis is a preventable disease, it is positively known, and yet in Pennsylvania alone, last year, there were 4,976 deaths, an average of 14 daily, against 2,535 persons killed in automobile and highway accidents, trolley mishaps and railroad fatalities.

These appalling figures were presented authoritatively, in informative talks before members of the Woman's club, Monday afternoon, in Highland U. P. church, by Miss Della Glenn, secretary of the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis society, and Mrs. Blanche Smith, of Morton street, a former public health nurse.

The speakers were provided by the Welfare department, Mrs. Henry Dinsmore, chairman. Mrs. J. C. Lechner introducing them at a most appropriate time, thus making the fight against tuberculosis, is now at its height.

Miss Glenn explained that the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis society of Lawrence county consisted mainly, of educational measures along preventative lines, financial assistance, by providing trainfare and clothing, for cases sent to the state sanatorium as need help, supplying tuberculin for tests, nursing service and aid to medical research in tuberculosis through the National association.

She advocated the tuberculin test, declaring that by this means, the disease can be detected in early stages and cured by proper rest, diet and care. As to unsuspected cases of the disease among school children, she stated that last year, the school physician, Dr. Mary Baker, gave the test to 75 pupils taken at random, who were suspects, with the result that out of that number, 43 showed positive reaction, though not active subjects, 42 of whom were contacts with others in homes where the disease existed. A direct benefit from the examinations was that the cases were sent to the state clinic for further diagnosis and X-ray pictures, and will be watched for any further development.

Music was furnished for the afternoon's program by Mrs. Ben S. Agnes and Mrs. Eliah Kaplan, the latter of whom is head of the Music group of the Fine Arts department. Assembly singing featured. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pond and Miss Jane Edmunds.

Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser invited the Woman's club to hear the lecture this evening at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A., by Colonel D. W. McCormack, U. S. commissioner of immigration and naturalization for the Department of Labor. He will speak on the Kerr bill which concerns naturalization and deportation of aliens.

It was announced that on next Monday, December 9, the Woman's club will sponsor a lecture at 2:30 in the Senior High school, by Richard Halliburton, writer, traveler and adventurer, in the fifth and latest of his series of books, "Seven League Books".

Miss Calvin was on the program, giving a splendid report of the Oxford conference. Other outstanding speakers included Dr. Carlton J. H. Hayes and Dr. George S. A prominent group of local youngsters will present a program. They will give an original Marionette show and several harmonica selections. Members of the Young Menorah club and Beth Alpha girls are cordially invited to attend as special guests. Hostesses will be, Messrs Ann Shifman, Rosalyn Saffer, Dora Winick and Rhea Frank.

BUSINESS WOMEN HEAR FINE PROGRAM

The "cheerful ear-full" promised by the Music committee of the Business and Professional Women's club for its regular meeting last evening was a decided success. A tasty dinner was served at 5:45 in the Green room at the Y. W. C. A., where the tables were centered with a cluster of candles in green and gold holders.

After the business session, nine new members were taken into the club. Miss Bess Galley, membership chairman, introduced Hilda Bloomer, Myfanwy Lewis, Mildred Lusk, Edna Longacre, Ora Muse, Martha Owens, Stella Pangratz, Ethel Pollard and Sarah Thomas, the new members. Mrs. Hazel Hanna Boyd, president, then taking charge of the initiation service. The soft glow of candle light added to the beauty and significance of the occasion. Miss Mary Harvard sang two solos.

The serious matters being done with the committee in charge of the program for the evening went into action. Two of the club's guests, Mrs. Charlotte Emery and Mrs. Elizabeth Littler, garbed in appropriate costumes, rendered two vocal numbers, Mrs. Emery playing the accordion accompaniment. Their performance was greeted with much applause. A comic sketch entitled, "The Lamp Went Out," provoked great mirth. Those portraying the different characters were recognized as Mary Harvard, Emily Rice, Mrs. Mabel Ballard, Mary Bigley and Sue Cramer.

The club will meet again at the same place on Monday, December 16, for its Christmas party. The emblem and social service members will be in charge of the program. At this time the members will have a "toy fair" by which means they hope to obtain toys for children who otherwise would receive no toys for Christmas. Any one outside of the club membership who wishes to send toys may do so and the club members will be very grateful for such assistance in their plan.

Due to the fact that Christmas week will be a busy time, the Executive board meeting will be held after the social meeting on the 16th instead of on Monday the 23rd.

Officers are to be in charge who are, Mrs. Evan Evans, Mrs. William Wignall and Mrs. Donald Barber. # ANNIVERSARY PARTY FOR DAVIS COUPLE

The 19th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Davis, Harrison street, was fittingly observed Saturday evening at a house party given by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Glass at their Harrison street residence, which proved a complete surprise to the honored ones.

Nine couples participated, and the main diversion was bingo, prizes being won by Mrs. C. F. Frey, Thomas Baskefield and Elmer Glass. Following, the group showered Mr. and Mrs. Davis with an array of beautiful gifts, most appropriate to the occasion.

Lunch was served as the concluding feature, Mrs. Glass being assisted by Mrs. Harry Redman and Mrs. C. F. Frey. The table appointments were attractive, and suggested the nuptial idea.

"MORE"

"HOW many of us are sad victims of the habit of seeking 'more'?" asks Ralph Kingsley, writing in the New York Times. "Behind every hand of cards smiles an illusive, imaginary trick which can never be taken, yet a certain misguided type of player is always scheming, striving, straining after it. He feels he must always get just a little more out of everything than anyone else. Sometimes this continual overplay leads to a costly mistake."

"How many men in daily business are that way? They torture themselves and every one around them by constant forcing. Normal sales, normal profits, normal advantages, never satisfy them. Excited by continual acquisition, they keep pressing for 'More, More.'"

"The unhappiest man I know has an income of $250,000 a year. He wants something more. What he wants he doesn't know. More money, more power, more prestige, more social enjoyment. The real truth is that he doesn't want any specific material thing. But he has spent so many years battling for 'more' that 'more' has now become a complex. His tired, middle-aged brain is rigidly grooved with 'more'. It can't change and relax. This poor old man will probably die whispering 'more!'—just like a dissatisfied child."

DEADLY SPORT

On November 24 it was reported that guns had killed at least 87 hunters this season. Most of the deaths were in the northern part of the country. New York was ahead with 18 fatalities. In addition to the deaths there were many wounded and crippled hunters.

There are as yet no reports of the game killed, but even if there was a good deal, non-hunters would believe the sport not worth the toll of human limbs and lives.

PREDICTING WEATHER TWO YEARS AHEAD

Obviously, the meteorologist who claims to have evolved a principle of astronomical computation by which he can predict the world's weather for two years in advance is not the forecaster who gnashed his teeth with envy on reading the prediction of an economist that business conditions in the next six months "might be better or they might be worse."

Forecasting the weather two years in advance is admittedly a great achievement. As the science becomes more and more developed it may even be possible to predict the weather a week ahead with accuracy.

PIRATIC SWINDLE

There is a good lesson for gullible investors and would-be heirs in the news that 41 persons are being brought to trial in connection with the perennial Sir Francis Drake swindle.

The story goes that the famous British buccaner left an estate which has reached the stupendous total of $27,000,000,000, and which is supposedly lying idle in English banks awaiting the establishment of legitimate claims.

Naive Americans, it appears, have forked over $1,350,000 to the alleged promoters of the scheme to establish inheritance rights. But, fortunately, the government at last has caught up with the schemers, and an opportunity will be afforded to explain the whole project in open court.

Sir Francis Drake, according to authoritative word from the British Isles, died a relatively poor man. He owned two small farms and a few hundred pounds in money.

Such discouraging facts should dim the ardor of all innocent investors who are prone to fall for the glittering tales of the high-pressure gentry.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE SMITHS

"Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith," wrote Dr. Holmes of his classmate, the author of "America." Fate has been equally unsuccessful with others of the name. Thus in the latest volume of the Dictionary of American Biography there are 140 Smiths, to say nothing of the variant Smithe; together they fill about a quarter of the volume. Since the living are excluded, one of the best-known members of the tribe, Alfred Emanuel, does not appear. But we have Francis Hopkinson, one of the most versatile of Americans as engineer, painter and novelist, and that very different person, Joseph, the Mormon prophet.

Of course we have Captain John Smith, who, though not native to the soil, played no small part in the exploration of the New World. His rescue by Pocahontas, familiar to every school boy, is less authentic than some of the others. Captain John told various tall tales in his time. Nor should we forget Hoke Smith, whom President Cleveland helped to make famous. It was the old New York Sun that coupled him with Pod Dismuke as an example of Southern nomenclature. It would be inglorious to forget Sophia Smith, who founded the college which bears her name. This is not the least of the Smith memorials.

BENEFICIAL BUYING

The old-fashioned person who thinks Christmas preparations should not begin until after Thanksgiving Day was certainly overruled this year. Stores all over the country set out their Christmas goods early and met an immediate response from the buying public. A holiday rush was apparent the last two weeks of November.

Various reasons are given for this pleasant development. They all boil down to the fact that people want many things and have money to spend. Incidentally, buyers are asking for better goods than in recent years. Quality is important, even at higher prices.

Staple merchandise is sharing in this improvement. Doubtless many people are beginning to replace worn garments with good new ones and to re-stock family linens and furniture and dishes. They are not reckless and extravagant, either. Some of these replacements are long overdue.

This sort of activity is going to be as good for public morale as it is for merchants themselves. The American people have a lot of work ahead of them before the depression is conquered and the way to future economic stability discovered. But they need to be perked up physically and spiritually, and the current buying wave seems to be doing that for them.

The measure of a man is the amount of gratitude he demands for a small favor.

COLORED MEN and women, other Americans who sympathize with "poor Haile Selassie" and "want to protect Ethiopia's ancient civilization", should know more Haile Selassie and others at the top in Ethiopia are of Arabic blood, and their prosperity is based on cruel exploitation of Negro slaves, of a race totally apart from their own.

Facts concerning Ethiopian "civilization" and SLAVERY may interest Americans of the colored race and others.

THERE ARE in Ethiopia two million Negro slaves, property of the upper classes. The Ethiopian of modest means rides out on his mule, a slave, barefoot, running beside him, carrying the rifle of his "owner."

An Ethiopian of real importance often has five hundred Negro slaves with him when he goes out—or he did, before it became necessary to keep slavery in the background, to make a pretense at civilization, when Selassie ordered debtors, mutilated and in chains, and lepers, driven from the public streets. The chief industry in Ethiopia has been selling slaves to Arab dealers.

ARE THESE statements made by Mussolini? No, they are contained in official statements made to the English government by important British officials; reports made at the end of the century before last, when Wilberforce was making his noble fight against slavery; they were made in 1931, 1932 and 1933, when England did not know that she would soon be weeping over "Ethiopian civilization."

MANY DETAILS of slavery horrors are in those English official reports printed just before Mussolini marched in. Some of the reports were so horrible that the English government could not allow them to be published.

But it did publish the fact that Negro slave girls, kept for purposes (Continued On Page Seven)

THE ORDINARY MAN'S ADVENTURE

Not all adventure lies afar. 'Tis something day by day. At adding figures in a book devotedly to stay.

Though dreams are built on luxury, the facts of life are stern, And many a man must shape his ends to what his strength can earn.

Not all the heroes warriors are. Courageous hearts and stout Go bravely to adventures that are seldom talked about.

He had this problem day by day, to clothe his children small; To keep a roof above their heads and educate them all.

The mother shared adventure, too. So much do youngsters ask To keep them glad to be at home was not an easy task.

Yet here's the glory of their lives! I cite it as a fact. Through difficulty and despair that home was kept intact.

Against the odds they bravely fought and as the children grew Always, in spite of poverty, some happiness they knew.

Planning and toiling for their needs They labored side by side, And lived to look across the years At last with joy and pride.

This their achievement: children grown to men and women good. This their adventure: they had done with life the best they could.

"Nothing much. We ran over a cow."

"Was it on the track?"

"No," replied the disgruntled conductor; "we chased it into a barn."

"That's the umpire, dear," the newlywed told his spouse in answer to her 50th foolish question.

"And why does he wear that funny-looking vest thing over his face? Would he never stop?"

"I say, why does he wear that funny—"

"Oh, just to keep from biting the ball players, precious."

No one knows better how many suckers there are in the world than the ticket-seller at a circus side show unless, perhaps, it is the auctioneer.

The United States has several reasons for not mixing with wars in foreign nations and the most important one is non-payment of money advanced in the world war, to say nothing of the lives lost and money spent by Americans to save the hides of some nations.

The farmer who sells his produce in town takes the money home unless he has to buy some gas or have the oil changed.

It seems that about all it takes to make a big war is for one nation just to hammer away long enough to stir up the feelings of other nations.

After I had given up all hope of ever receiving a penny of a $50 personal loan, I received payment in full, with fulsome apologies for the delay.

The beneficiary of my favor was a comparative stranger, a man from whom I recently bought goods and paid $25. He had never bought anything from me or placed me under a cent's worth of obligation to him.

When he asked for the loan at four o'clock one day, after the bank had closed—he had to have the money that very afternoon—I could have said that I didn't have the cash, that I didn't feel like making a loan, that I wanted time to investigate his credit, or that I was leaving at midnight for Europe. Instead, I let him have the money upon his solemn promise to return it, when his checks came in, six days later.

Came the sixth day and a telephone call from his female office helper that he was out of the city but would see me the following morning. Came another call that he would surely see me the next day, which turned out to be a legal holiday. Then I began calling.

I made a mental list of the nice things I could do with $50. I thought of the fine people I knew to whom a fraction of $50 would be like a visit from Santa Claus. I even thought of my patient creditors, including my banker and my landlord.

During the sixteen succeeding days I told my incredible story to a dozen friends, and they gasped. What $50 to a man you don't know, in times like these! I began to enjoy my misery. I determined to make the experience pay handsome dividends. I would take the cancelled check for $50, a "no funds" check for $22, a note for $5, and an endorsement on a saxophone installment note for $12.37. I would frame them and let the exhibit announce a silent "No!" to hopeful borrowers. If I could stick to my resolution never again to make a personal loan, I might save hundreds of dollars. The loss of the $50 would be a modest price to pay for the protection. Thus I consoled myself.

Unfortunately, the return of the money has somewhat restored my faith in the integrity of my fellow-men. My heart is soft and is ready for another squeeze. That's the tragedy.

After the way the billions of dollars have been wasted in this country we cannot see a very good reason for refusing the soldiers their money. No doubt if they had been given their money they would have made things better than they are now.

Have you ever been the recipient of invitations of the "come and see me sometime" variety?

No day or date being mentioned, you of course answer "I should be delighted to" without, possibly, having the slightest intention of taking advantage of such a flimsy invitation.

You think to yourself "she can't mean that for this is the third time she has asked me without stating a particular day."

And small wonder, for who would consider such a remark as anything but idle persiflage!

Those who seriously solicit friendship will give their invitations a serious note by stating a specific date, as—"Do come to see me soon. I'm always at home on Tuesdays," or "come next Saturday night to dinner."

It is, indeed, provoking to be repeatedly asked to "come over" without ever having a definite time set for the visit.

Old Age Pensions Alarm.
Both Parties Concerned.
Expect Power In Four Years.

Central Press

New York Bureau

235 East 45th St.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—By 1939 the old-age pensioners will have power enough in congress to put through a drastic pension plan. That seems to be the outlook now to men who have made a study of the situation. The Townsendites assert they will control the 1937 congress (elected in November, 1936), but that seems improbable. Both old parties are beginning to be alarmed, as are far-seeing businessmen.

Between now and 1939 an attempt will be made to "educate" the people against the Townsend plan, with its turnover tax. A tax on every transaction would snuff out business, leading business authorities are agreed. That would be the ultimate of taxes, the tax to end all taxes—by ending all income, business leaders believe.

In the meantime, other inflationary processes may beat the Townsend plan to the debacle, according to the views of the money men. Every tendency is toward the expansion of credit and money, in the belief that this will spread wealth all around, these observers believe. The people seem hell-bent upon finding an easy road to the distribution of wealth. They thus may bind themselves tighter than ever to the money-changers, economists are warning.

It is a queer situation. The liberals find themselves lined up with the bankers. For liberals see nothing except destruction in the Townsend plan and inflationary schemes. They see all hopes of reform gone by the boards for years to come.

Actual distribution of wealth, they say, can come only through definite individual participation in the wealth-producing sources. That is where the liberals and the bankers part company.

COMPROMISE

Since the United States is becoming a land of older generations, an old-age pension plan is certain to gain power.

Both Democrats and Republicans failed to meet the issue squarely, and now they are hard up. If now they present a logical plan, even one more far-reaching than is contained in the social security law which goes into effect next year, it will seem tame compared to the Townsend proposal. An effort, however, will be made to stem the Townsend tide prior to 1938 by enlarging upon the present plan, it is believed.

The United States has lagged in social security measures. Now the effort to produce workable measures, at this late date, is an agonizing process, since neither business nor the beneficiaries can be pleased.

Margiotti Upholds Milk Control Act

Supplemental Brief Is Filed With Superior Court By Attorney General

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—Upholding the constitutionality of the Pennsylvania milk control act, a supplemental brief was on file today in the superior court at Philadelphia.

The brief, filed by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, contended that regulation of the state's dairy industry is essential to a healthful supply of milk. It was pointed out by Margiotti that in a demoralized market, which would result without supervision, the price of milk to the farmer would be reduced and producers would lower the standards of sanitation.

Attacked by Wayne L. Rohrer, Lancaster County chairman, the control act was upheld in the Lancaster county court, and from that decision Rohrer appealed to the higher court. Rohrer charged the act was unconstitutional. Previously his license had been revoked by the milk control board on charges of underpaid producers.

Seek To Unravel Mystery In Death

Pittsburgh Woman Found Dead
In New York Lodging
House Last Night

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The trained eye and mind of the municipal medical examiner were depended upon by police today to explain the death of a tiny, brunette Pittsburgh woman.

The woman, clad only in pajamas, was found lying dead across her bed in an uptown lodging house last night.

According to the police the woman came to the boarding house with a man ten days ago and registered as Mrs. Lena Weintraub.

Last night, the superintendent, Lesson Fields, saw the man leaving with a suitcase in his hand.

Fields became suspicious and went to the couple's room, where he found the woman's body.

Fields summoned police, who in turn, called a doctor. The physician examined the body but was unable to give the cause of death, and an autopsy was ordered.

There were no marks on the body, police said, except a slight discoloration on the throat, which might have been caused by a pin the woman wore.

In the room police found a marriage license bearing the name Angelina Gregorio and the address 1320 Medley street, N. S., Pittsburgh.

YOUR CAR NEEDS
"Lubricated Starting"

Copyright 1935, T. W. O. Co.

FIGURE it out for yourself, Mr. Motorist. A slow, cold start takes the juice out of a battery and puts extra wear on the motor. Oil-dry pistons scratch along cylinder walls and slow up starting. That costs you money and that's why you need the new lubricated start of Tydol Gasoline. The cold-proof top-cylinder oil blended into Tydol eases pistons into surer, safer, instant action. You get split-second starting every time. Worth while? You bet! And Tydol doesn't cost a penny extra.

Mayor Endorses Salvation Army Fund Campaign

Mayor Mayne Praises Splendid Work Carried On By Local Unit

Mayor C. Mayne today gave his endorsement to the annual appeal of the Salvation Army in the following communications:

To the People of New Castle:
The Salvation Army is preparing to launch its annual appeal for funds to carry on its work here. During the progress of preparation for the campaign leading citizens of New Castle will express their opinions as to the worth of the Army and endorse the appeal. The first appears herewith. While its falls in line of duty for our people to go back of the Salvation Army at the same time it is a pleasure for me to go on record as endorsing the organizations' forthcoming Home Service Appeal.

The Salvation Army's work and missions are above words of praise. Nothing I can say will add to the organization's good name in this community. It fills a special need. Its workers go into homes not reached by other agencies, makes contacts with life. Weary and discouraged and of whose existence even in these difficult times a lot of our people are unaware, hardly a day passes we know, despite the far-sung agencies of government relief, but that appeals do not come from unfortunate individuals and families for assistance.

It is to enable the Salvation Army

Economic Situation To Force Mussolini To Terms, Says Thomas

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Mussolini's war on Ethiopia, the first step in his dream of a new Roman world empire, will end shortly, Senator Elmer D. Thomas (D) of Utah, predicted today in urging enactment of permanent American neutrality legislation.

Italy's lack of credit, due partly to the Johnson act forbidding American loans to defaulting debtor nations, Thomas said, will force Mussolini to abandon his present program.

"The economic situation is stronger than all the League of Nations' sanctions and all neutrality laws," he explained. "The situation is dominated by Italy's tight credit and the Johnson act. Neither act sanctions in the ordinary sense but both are sanctions stronger than any the League can apply so far as Italy is concerned."

"Can a nation, which hasn't any natural resources and which has no credit, possibly stand against the will of the world? Of course, it can't. So far as this particular war (against Ethiopia) is concerned, we have a key to stop it."

Thomas, in urging enactment at the next session of congress of a permanent neutrality law, said he favored one giving the president broad discretionary power in administering the export ban. He added though he expected congress to draft its own list of contraband articles, the export of which he barred to warring nations.

The Utah senator predicted congress would list oil as contraband, since Mussolini raised such strenuous objections to the League's oil sanction.

"The contraband list, used by the president under the temporary neutrality act, was prepared by League of Nations' experts a long time ago," Thomas said. "It's a general list. If the League experts had included oil, it would have been banned by the president. There is no question now that it is contraband."

Aluminum Workers All Smiles Today

(International News Service)
NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—Sustained business improvement found its reflection today in the smiling faces of workers at the plants of the Aluminum Company of America here and elsewhere.

Instead of waiting until December 15, when a five per cent wage increase was to have gone into effect, officials made the increase effective ahead of time as of the first of the month.

The 5 per cent increase will mean a $1,000,000 a year more for the company's 15,000 workers. In New Kensington, it will mean an additional $15,000 for the two weeks.

City Of Tomorrow Being Exhibited

Model Of Steel And Glass Depicts What Cities Will Be Like In Fifty Years

Looking ahead fifty years, a Buffalo young man, Edmund Zebold, has perfected a model "City of Tomorrow," composed of chromium steel and glass, which is on display in the window of the New Castle Dry Goods Company.

His idea is that the skyscrapers of tomorrow will be composed of steel and glass, will be tremendous structures with elevated sidewalks, twenty stories above ground, with huge landing decks for airplanes and zeppelins overhead.

Rocket ships, streamlined motorcars, and many other revolutionary developments are depicted in the display. Mr. Zebold spent 14 months in constructing the model at a cost of $10,000.

While the display is shown in the windows of the New Castle Dry Goods company, it has been sponsored by a large number of business firms of the city. The display is particularly attractive at night, as its countless number of lights flash on an off, lighting up the towering skyscrapers and the many signs.

DAVID GATRALL IS HONORED AT PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gatrall, 408 Hillcrest avenue, was the scene of a delightful affair on a recent evening when they entertained informally at a "homecoming" party, honoring their son, David Gatrall, a student at Allegheny college, who was here for the holiday period.

The hours were pleasantly whiled away with a program of interesting games, including bingo; music and conversation. At a suitable hour Mrs. E. C. Gatrall served a tasty collation with appointments being suggestive of the Thanksgiving season. The guest list included a group of David's associates here, and as a special participant they had Miss Edna Matthews.

Those in attendance who left December first to resume their studies at Allegheny college included Elizabeth Brady of Woodline, N. Y.; Shirley Baldwin of Hamilton, N. Y.; Betty K. Matthews, Virginia Cook, Robert Miner, Glenn McClurg and the honored guest, David Gatrall, all of this city, who enjoyed the holidays at their homes here. Also, Gethen Thomas shared, and he has returned to Pitt where he is enrolled. Misses Baldwin and Brady were the house guests of Miss Matthews on Greenwood avenue during their brief stay in New Castle.

that may be imagined, were punished by having boiling hot water poured on their bellies and thighs, horribly scalding them. Sometimes they were burned to death with red hot irons when caught with Negro young men."

WASHINGTON gentlemen.

Anglo-maniac officials that would put an embargo on oil and other shipments to Italy to protect Haile Selassie's civilization, should interview survivors among the slave girls that have undergone the boiling water treatment, for "morality."

"NOBODY LOVES a fat man."

Mrs. Amy Dumbrell, 50, of San Francisco adds, lugubriously, "or a fat woman, either." Having just killed her husband, in accordance with modern custom, because he seemed to prefer a telephone girl with red hair, this pathetic lady says to the judge:

"You see what I am—short and fat. That's why I lost my husband."

That is also why her husband lost his life.

THE TELEPHONE girl was not short or fat, but that had nothing to do with it.

Who will make ladies understand that the trouble is not with shortness or fatness, but with the moral nature of man, nearly always foolish, and frequently short? Had the telephone girl been shorter and faster than the wife, but retaining her red hair, roving eye, and YOUTH, the shooting might still have occurred.

The fair one with red hair, inherited from long before, the ice age, may have been "only just very dear friends" with Mr. Dumbrell, and she may consider herself fortunate.

Often the angry wife shoots the other lady.

POOR CHINA abandons hope for her northern territory and its 95,000,000 inhabitants that Japan wants. China suspects that Japan "plans a series of blows to force the entire Chinese nation into vassalage to Tokyo."

"Asia for Japan" is the Japanese motto; and Japan knows how to go about it. No signs of "52 members of the League of Nations" telling Japan "You must not."

IN HIS book, "Stalin," finished by Henri Barbusse just before he died, and recently published by Macmillan, the French writer, who represents the Stalin view, says Stalin believes that "one quarter of China, with 100,000,000 inhabitants, is red." Also Russia must engage in "the holy war of national revolutionary defense of the Chinese people against Japanese imperialism."

"China for the Chinese," says Barbusse, can only mean "Soviet China."

England, perhaps, thinks that program will keep Russia and Japan both busy for a while, and is content to "let the best man win."

BUT JAPAN moves more swiftly than Russia, or any western nation. She is more subtle; you know what she plans only after it is done.

With ten millions of those northern Chinese, as courageous fighters as any on earth, provided with guns and sufficient airplanes, there might come a "holy war," more important than any defense of China against Japanese imperialism.

WHEN experimenting starts, it keeps going. Hitler, manufacturing cannon, knows they will need "food," and insists on more babies. A German farmer gets a divorce because his wife wants no children. "It is the duty of German wives to perpetuate the German blood," the court says.

A new law will permit a man to divorce his wife if she refuses to accept Nazi doctrines. It is proposed to provide government subsidies for unmarried mothers and illegitimate children.

That might be dangerous for Hitler. William the Conqueror was an illegitimate child, his mother was the tanner's pretty daughter, Arlette. A couple of babies like William, grown up, might cause trouble for the Nazis.

The proud Norman duke married Arlette later, making all correct, and William was fond of his mother. Officials of a city that he was besieging hung raw hides on the city wall to mock his mother's humble origin as a tanner's daughter.

William took the city, had a number of prominent citizens skinned alive, and hung their hides on the same wall.

This world used to be even rougher than it is now.

THE POTATO LAW, planned to help farmers by making potatoes scarcer and prices higher, went into effect last midnight. Any grower who digs potatoes to be sold must put them in packages, and put government stamps on each package. Failing that, he breaks the national law.

And so do you, if you buy the "bootleg" potatoes.

You may, however, plant potatoes for your own use, and eat them, without formality. But you must not sell them without stamps. Some farmers will dislike what they call regimentation and many, not farmers, will dislike higher potato prices.

Council Ponders Over City Budget

Resume Session This Afternoon To Seek To Fix Figures For Year

SEEK TO CUT SOME EARLY ESTIMATES

Council was scheduled to convene informally this afternoon for the purpose of trying to arrange appropriations for the operation of the city government during 1936. Mayor-elect Charles McGrath and Councilmen-elect J. L. Fink and Myron Rice will meet with the incumbents.

At the conclusion of Monday's labor the councilmen decided they would again make estimates to determine if there were any way of cutting down appropriations which totalled about $526,000.

It was arranged that Mayor-elect McGrath should confer with Mayor Mayne, Councilmen-elect Fink with Councilman Hoyland and Councilman-elect Rice with Councilman Davies.

They will discuss the affairs and needs of the departments over which the incumbents now head and the departments the newcomers will have charge of.

Mayor Mayne is the head of the department of public affairs, Davies has charge of the department of public safety and Hoyland has jurisdiction over the department of finance and accounts.

Several perplexing problems. Impression collected during Monday's budget task was that the officials for the next few years do not want an increase in taxes. The present incumbents also want to hold down taxes as much as possible. Should seven firemen and seven policemen be added to those departments, it would add $20,412 to the payroll at their present wages. It has not been decided how many, if any, new employees are to be selected. This question has not been settled—in fact, it, like the request of city employees for a restoration of wages which took a downward slant in 1932, has been passed over without any definite decision.

Included in the estimates presented by several of the councilmen are those for new or second-hand equipment. Whether or not such is to be bought remains to be seen. The assessed valuation for 1935 was about $50,800,000 and the tax levy for this year was nine mills for general revenue purposes, two mills for sinking fund and one-half mill for library purposes.

Governor Earle Will Speak At Protest Meeting

Pennsylvania Executive Heads List Of Olympic Protest Speakers

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania will head a list of persons prominent in the civic and sports worlds scheduled to speak tonight at a public protest meeting against America's participation in the 1936 Olympic games in Germany.

Arranged under the banner of the committee on fair play in sports, the meeting, according to the committee's announcement, "will bring together a host of distinguished men committed to the idea that the U. S. team must be withdrawn from the Olympic games in order to preserve the American standards of sportsmanship and fair play."

Alleged Nazi violations of Olympic regulations, discrimination against Catholics, Protestants and Jews, and reaction of athletic leaders, and the American public at large, will be discussed.

Many speakers. Other speakers include Alfred T. Lill of Boston, one-time national A. U. president; former Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney, now A. A. U. head; Dr. Frank Bon, noted economist, and Mayor LaGuardia. Erich Seelig, German middleweight fighter, will, it was said, "offer testimony as to the Nazi discrimination against athletes based on race."

Coincidentally, John J. Magee, veteran Olympic track coach; John Ryder, track and field coach of Boston college, and Chick Meshan, Manhattan college football coach, joined the ranks of opponents of American Olympic participation in a letter, signed by themselves and 14 other college sports coaches, addressed to the A. A. U. and the American Olympic committee.

SEEK TO END STRIKE AMONG TRUCK DRIVERS

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—While 300 loaded railroad refrigeration cars remained idle on sidings here, a hasty conference was scheduled today to end the strike of 3,000 truck drivers and the threat of a fresh fruit and vegetable shortage in the city. Representatives of the trucking industry and of the Drivers' union were to appear before Jacob Billikopf, former chairman of the Philadelphia office of the National Labor Relations board, to arbitrate the walkout. Union leaders have asserted the strike was called to obtain higher wages for drivers, picketing distribution of produce to stores and markets.

St. Louis Browns Will Be Bought By Syndicate Of Men

Eleven Members Of Proposed Syndicate Hold Conference

(International News Service) ST. LOUIS, Dec. 3.—Purchase of the St. Louis Browns by a syndicate of St. Louis business men in the near future appeared a certainty today following a five-hour conference of 11 members of the proposed syndicate.

Walter M. Smith, spokesman for the group, announced following the meeting that he and the other ten men had agreed to take steps to purchase the club from the estate of the late Phil Ball, but that definite action was withheld because of the inability of other members of the proposed syndicate to attend the meeting. Such action will be taken, Smith believes, when the 27 men of the group get together during the latter part of next week.

Figures Unrevealed. While Smith would not make known the figure at which the syndicate hopes to purchase the club, he said that it had been agreed at the conference that a pool of approximately half a million dollars would be raised before final action would be taken.

Since the Browns franchise is reported to be on sale for $400,000, the extra $100,000 would probably be used to strengthen the club through trades and purchase of players. The $400,000 figure is believed to include the price of the San Antonio club of the Texas league, also owned by the Ball estate.

Wholesale Arrests Are Being Made In Philadelphia, Pa.

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—Armed with warrants issued by Judge Harry S. McDevitt, county detectives today began re-arresting on serious charges 100 defendants discharged by Philadelphia's minor judiciary. The startling action came as an aftermath of a presentment returned by the special August grand jury which was ordered to continue its investigation of the magistrates' courts after it returned indictments against all but one member of the minor judiciary on charges of misdemeanor, malfeasance and misfeasance in office.

Jury Discharged In Kidnaping Case

West Virginia Man Will Face Second Trial For Kidnaping Wife

(International News Service) LEWISBURG, W. Va., Dec. 3.—William Mavin Roman, 39, today returned to a jail cell to await a second trial on charges of kidnaping his 14-year-old wife, Dorothy, when she was but six years old.

Judge H. S. Sharp discharged the first jury when after three hours it found itself hopelessly deadlocked. Roman probably will be brought to trial again next January.

Still loyal to her husband, the young wife who declared on the witness stand that she left home with Roman voluntarily because she loved him and because her life with her parents was unpleasant, planned to continue living with her infant son at Roman's home.

Dorothy and Roman disappeared from here in 1927, were married in Oklahoma City six years later, the girl giving her age as 19, and came back to Lewisburg last August. Roman was promptly arrested on an indictment returned in 1928.

It was reported that the discharged jury stood 10 to 2 for Roman's acquittal.

Clergymen Hear Rev. C. H. Hauger

Croton Church Pastor Speaks
Monday On "Is Sterilization Justified?"

After matters of business were disposed of Monday at a meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association in the First Presbyterian church, Dr. C. B. Winger, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker of the day, Rev. Charles H. Hauger, pastor of the Croton Avenue M. E. church.

"Is Sterilization Justified?" was the subject of the paper Rev. Hauger had prepared. He stated that already 28 states have laws permitting human sterilization and their legality have been tested by U. S. Supreme Court. The great purpose of sterilization is to protect society from an increasing number of imbeciles and criminally insane. The address was well received by the association.

Rev. Rees T. Williams, president of the association, presided throughout the business session. Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates conducted the devotions.

Captain George Bevan, of the Salvation Army, introduced Adjutant Fowle, who is in charge of the campaign department of the Pittsburgh district, after speaking a few minutes Adjutant Fowle introduced Mrs. Lucy Lyons who will be in charge of the local campaign of the Salvation Army, which opens on December 9. The association unanimously endorsed the campaign for funds to meet the budget of the local unit.

Rev. Philip C. Pearson, chairman of the library committee, had a well selected book exhibit. He introduced Miss Gladys Gray, who, through the courtesy of the New Castle library, arranged for the loaning of books at the close of the meeting.

A letter from the Y. W. C. A. was read in which the association was commended for its help in the Character Chest drive. Rev. J. E. Jams closed the meeting with prayer.

On the next meeting date, December 16, Rev. C. H. Hagadorn, new pastor of the Mahoning M. E. church, will speak on the subject, "The Christ of Christmas."

Differ Over Keeping A.A.A.

Consumers Who Foot Bill
Caused By Higher Prices
Are Not Pleased

FARMERS WHO BENEFIT ARE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S. Street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Some time ago I asked readers for expressions of their opinions relative to the New Dealers' A.A.A. policy of increasing farm prices by the processing taxation method, theoretically at the expense of the consumer, since the processors simply pass the tax along.

The response was what probably might have been expected. City folk, who have to foot the bill, with no corresponding increase in urban incomes, almost unanimously consider the experiment's results highly unsatisfactory. Farmers, the beneficiaries of what the Washington administration describes as a "gentle rain of checks" from the government, for what they don't produce, generally think very well of it.

AN EXCEPTION

But, in my mail, I find an exception in a letter from one city chap, who sympathizes with his rural brother.

The writer is a white collar worker, a sewing machine salesman, he says, but, he adds, "I do appreciate justice, and I don't believe in assisting one class more than another."

"Why can't industrial workers be sports?"

"Is not this the first time the farmer has been subsidized ever since there have been protective tariffs?

"Protection has kept foreign goods from competition in this country, thus helping industrial labor but hurting the farmer, because he has had to pay more for everything he has had to buy."

"Now that he is being subsidized, too, the farmer is getting only what he should have had long ago—an even break."

A STRIKING ARGUMENT

A professional economist could not more clearly have made the point that urban industry (though the employers rather than the workers) has been subsidized by the protective tariff at agriculture's expense.

As competent an authority as Congressman David J. Lewis, of Maryland, formerly a tariff commission member, frankly recognizes that tariffs are a form of subsidy, but remarks that the beneficiaries prefer the term "tariff", because, as he expresses it, "a subsidy's visibility is too high."

To be sure, industrial leadership always has been willing to grant tariff protection to agriculture also—being perfectly conscious that the farmer, as an exporter couldn't possibly profit by an import tax.

DEFENSE AGAINST TARIFF

The northern farmer (it is impossible to acquit him of stupidity), not so much the southerner, fell for this hokus-pokus for years.

Back in the Coolidge administration, however, agriculture began to realize that, in order to compete with the urban subsidy, it must have a new kind of subsidy—that would work. Accordingly the "equalization plan" was devised. It would have worked, as a subsidy, which industry didn't want agriculture to have; it would have robbed industry of its advantage. On that ground it was pronounced uneconomic, and was vetoed by a president from an industrial state.

The A.A.A. program is designed, likewise, to subsidize the farmer.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace says so plainly.

It is his defense, on the farmers' behalf, against urban industry's protective tariff.

IS IT ADVISABLE?

The question isn't: Are the farmers entitled to counter-subsidize against industry's subsidies?

The question is: Is it desirable to subsidize and counter-subsidize and counter-counter-subsidize and so on indefinitely? Besides, there is an intermediate element, which is caught between the upper and nether millstones, the white collar class, which is about 30 per cent of the national population.

No negligible economic consideration!

Justice League Demands Ruling For Large Fund

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—A clear-cut ruling was demanded by the Tax Justice League of Pennsylvania on the question of whether the Ziesenheim bill appropriating $25,000,000 for salaries of public school teachers still stands as a commonwealth obligation since the state income tax, upon which it was contingent for funds, has been declared illegal.

The demand was forwarded to John H. Fertig, head of the legislative reference bureau which drafts legislative bills, by C. V. Shoup, director of the league.

Scientists will tour Ukraina in a traveling laboratory to study the properties of chemical substances as applied to agriculture.

On Court House Hill

W. O. Taylor of North Beaver township, has presented his resignation as township auditor to court, on account of having been elected supervisor. C. O. Martin has been appointed auditor on petition of North Beaver township citizens.

Constables who were chosen at the recent election were sworn in by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell after their bonds had been approved by the court. Constables are required to give bond in the sum of $1000 for the faithful performance of their duties.

Attorney J. Roy Mercer presented a petition setting forth that viewers had been unable to complete a view of the property of Luigi Cardullo, Youngstown hill, Union township, and asking for more time. The view was extended until the first Monday of January. The case is one in which Cardullo is asking damages by reason of the improving of the road.

Jury Commissioners George Forrest and B. Frank Thorn were sworn to the fact that they have filled the jury wheel for 1936. An order was made by the court under which thirteen hundred names were to be placed in the wheel. Some of the names which were in this year were included, as the persons had not served on any jury.

Sixty-nine instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office during the past week. Of this number forty were deeds, ten mortgages and three agreements. There were two Home Owners' Loan Corporation mortgages and the balance were to building and loan associations.

As usual there were no bidders aside from the plaintiffs in suits when Sheriff Edward D. Fitchard and Deputy Elmer Taylor sold fifteen principal reasons for lack of bidders is that there is very little if any equity in many of the properties sold. In most cases taxes have been allowed to accumulate for several years, which is one of the reasons that holders of mortgages are forced to foreclose.

The new potato law which went into effect at midnight last Saturday was being discussed by some farmers attending court this week and from what was gathered from their conversation every one was of the opinion that the law is an outrage. It provides for a tax of three-fourths of a cent a pound on all potatoes harvested and sold in excess of a national allotment. The law says a grower should have an automatic allotment of five bushels, but officials now say that they can increase this to fifty bushels. Tax stamps will be issued for growers of potatoes in excess of the allotments. In many sections of the country farmers are organizing to fight the law.

Judging from the cases which have just been tried and others that have been filed, "desertion" now seems to be the principal reason for divorce applications. Whether this is due to hard times or incompatibility it is hard to say, but probably it is a mixture of both. People are more irritable in hard times and this leads to family quarrels and desertions. There isn't much that can be done about it but grin and bear.

A charter has been granted by the local court to a corporation to be called the Calibro Americana, the character and object of which is to maintain a society for beneficial and protective purposes for members. The organization will assess dues and pay sick benefits and burial expenses. The officers chosen for the first year are: president, Frank Gillett; vice president, James Morabito; second vice president, Aquilone De Marco; corresponding secretary, Frank Dattilo; financial secretary, Antonio Audino; treasurer, Luigi Aiello. The above officers, with Tarquin Marziano of Ellwood City, constitute the board of directors.

Recreational Park Plans Are Advanced

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 3.—More than 8,000 acres of poor farm land in the heart of the Allegheny mountains in Central Pennsylvania will be converted into a public recreational park as a result of land purchase and development by the operation with the National Park service A. W. Manchester, regional director of land utilization, announced here today.

The area surrounds Blue Knob mountain, second highest point in Pennsylvania, with an elevation of 3,220 feet, and is being acquired at a cost of $100,000. It is situated in northwest Bedford county adjoining the village of Pavia.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

(Copyright, 1935, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Potpourri: A few of the many sassy gals who rushed into night club spotlights a few months back to prove they could make noises as well as the Social Register have survived the siftings. . . . Some may prove genuinely talented, but for the most part professional entertainers were unduly alarmed about the competition. . . . Eve Symington, one of the veteran blue-blood titters, seems to be holding her vogue at the St. Regis' King Cole Room. . . . Her pop is Congressman Wadsworth. . . . He draws about $800 monthly from the Government, while daughter commands $1,000 weekly. . . .

Elsa Maxwell, the gushing lady who teaches millionaires how to wear paper hats and play ring-around-the-rosebush, announced the other day that the happiest "couple" she knew was an Indian maharajah and his 300 wives. . . . But seriously, there are a few happy couples about, really happy. . . . They aren't, as a rule, the "professionally" happy pairs, who talk for publication about how happy they are one year and hike out to Reno the next. . . . I mean people like Edna St. Vincent Millay and her self-effecting spouse, the Norrises, Charles and Kathleen; Mr. and Mrs. John Nance Garner and a dozen others I could name.

Suggestion to oddity-snoopers: the Yale Puppeteers, who hold forth in the smallest theater in New York, in East Fortieth St. . . . Jack Dempsey, who has been seen about wearing dark glasses, isn't going in for that Hollywood gag of excessive coyness and flight from recognition in the street. . . . As a matter of fact he has had a minor eye ailment, which several trips to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore have cleared up. . . . Tempest in a Teapot: Frances Maddux, the "smart" song-singer. . . . My butcher has a Christmas gift suggestion: three pork chops in a platinum-lined box. . . . The stage hands at "At Home Abroad" play ceaseless practical jokes on Bea Lillie, the star. . . . For instance, in the bar scene, in which Bea picks up a towel from the counter, a small mechanical snake leaped at her from underneath the rag the other night. . . . She giggled and pushed the thing behind the bar so the audience wouldn't catch on. . . . Indeed, I find Miss Lillie and her antics an acquired taste. . . . Once she left me completely cold with her monkeyshines, but I am ready to bow from the waist and tell her she's pretty swell, after all. . . . At least the phoney temperament which mars many an actress is missing in her case. . . .

Extract from a letter written by an ambitious 19-year-old author: "As soon as I sell $100 worth of stories I shall hike into town and sign up for the best English course I can get. All I lack now is grammar." . . . Tom Beck, the publisher of Collier's, was introduced to a scribbler who had just sold his magazine a story the other night. . . . "Great guns!" enthused the type-writer tapper, "is this The Tom Beck?" . . . "No," he grinned, "The Tom Beck was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence; I'm just Tom Beck." . . .

Nunnally Johnson is on his way to Canada to supervise appearance of the Dionne Quintuplets in a movie. . . . The French Casino will take its naughty-but-nice show to Miami before going on tour with it. . . . George Jean Nathan wears a marvelous cape with a green lining to first nights of late. . . . Lily Pons paid income taxes last year in England, France, South America and the U. S.

SENATOR BORAH MAY SEEK U. S. PRESIDENCY

Statement Will Be Issued Soon

Definite Stand Will Probably Be Taken Before End Of Present Year

HAS CONFERENCE WITH REP. FISH

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho probably will say definitely about January 1 whether or not he will be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, Rep. Fish of New York said after a conference with Borah.

Fish's report of the conference between the two potential candidates carried the intimation that Borah will seek the presidency. Fish offered to support Borah and added that if Borah does not run, he himself will enter the presidential primaries as an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination. "Senator Borah probably will have a definite statement to give out at the end of the month," said Fish. "I think he is better fitted through knowledge and experience, than any other candidate and can be elected."

National Economy
Fish said that Senator Borah "stands for national economy, a balanced budget and has consistently opposed the bonus bill on the ground of national economy, until the last session, when it was obvious that President Roosevelt was squandering the people's money and had no thought of balancing the budget or practicing economy."

"I am confident," said Fish, "that if Senator Borah becomes a candidate, he will not seek to destroy or attack other candidates, but will seek to be nominated himself and to insure the election of Republican candidates throughout the country."

"Senator Borah has never bolted his party, not even for Theodore Roosevelt. His nomination would revive confidence of the plain people in the Republican party, and destroy the most potent argument of the Democratic party, which is that of Wall Street control, reaction and a return to the abuses of the old order."

Youthful Deer Hunter Suffers Fatal Wounds

Another Hunter Dies Of Heart Attack As He Prepares To Hunt

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—Two hunting fatalities were reported from central Pennsylvania Monday as the first day of the deer season passed with more than 200,000 hunters scattered throughout the state's forested big-game lands.

Thomas Moyer, 48, Mechanicsburg, was the first victim reported in this section. He succumbed to a heart attack shortly after starting out from his hunting base in Potter county.

The second victim was Kenneth Warlow, 16, of Tower City, who was struck by a stray bullet and died of loss of blood in the woods in Clark's Valley, upper Dauphin county. The youth was hunting with his father and a party of friends.

LEAVES REQUEST FOR USER OF CRUTCHES

(International News Service) LEWISBURG, Pa., Dec. 3.—Bucknell University has announced receipt of a $400 bequest from the estate of the late Jacob H. Minick, Norristown, but the gift may be used to aid only some student who is required to use crutches.

Acting President Arnaud C. Marts, in announcing the gift, declared that Minick, in his student days, was similarly afflicted and forced to use crutches.

WHY THE WOODMAN SPARED THE TREE

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—Mrs. J. N. Heck, Harrisburg, didn't have a broom or a husband handy to argue the point for her when she caught a power company employee trimming a tree in front of her home.

"Cut off another limb and I'll turn the hose on you!" she said. . . . The trimmer stopped his work and moved on.

TO RAISE G. O. P. FUND FOR 1936 CAMPAIGN

Silas H. Strawn

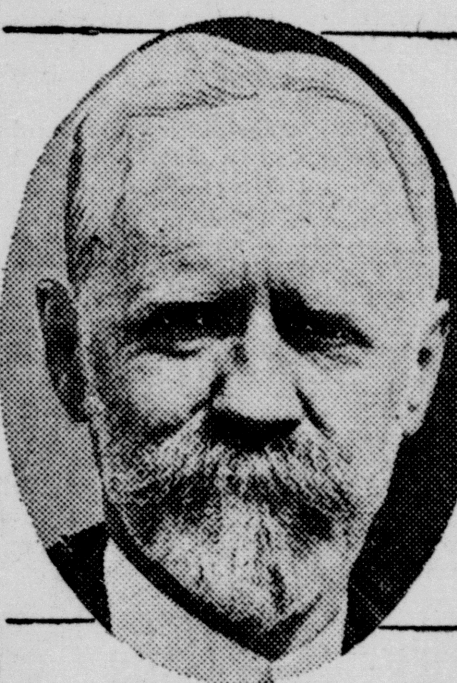

Henry D. Sharpe

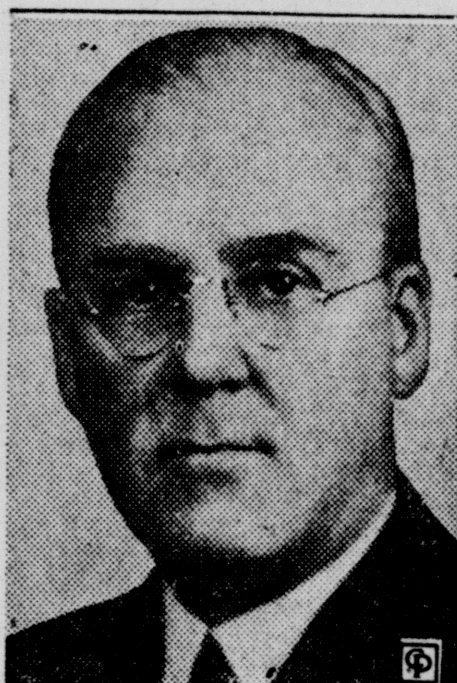

Herbert L. Pratt

Sewell L. Avery

William B. Bell

Ernest T. Weir

The formation of a committee of 16 nationally prominent industrialists and lawyers to raise a big fund for the Republican presidential campaign in 1936 has been announced by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican National committee.

Some of the members of the committee are William B. Bell of New York, president of the American Cyanamid company; Sewell L. Avery, Chicago, president Montgomery Ward & Company; Silas H.

Strawn, Chicago, of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw; Herbert L. Pratt of New York, member of Charles Pratt & Company; Henry D. Sharpe, Providence, R. I., treasurer of the Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing company; and Ernest T. Weir, Pittsburgh, chairman of board, National Steel corporation. Bell will be chairman of the committee. The men have been among the leading opponents of the New Deal.

AROUND CITY HALL

Although councilmen and councilmen-elect struggled for six hours Monday to definitely decide upon 1936 appropriations their labors ended after 4:30 p. m. with practically no decisions reached. They agreed to meet again today.

During one discussion between Mayor-elect Charles McGrath and incumbents he indicated that neither he nor his colleagues were in favor of adding anything to the 1936 budget that would increase the tax levy. He asked for a poll on the question. It was not taken. Councilman Davies told McGrath that whether or not one liked it the city had to raise sufficient money to operate the city government and if an increase had to come nothing else could be done about it. However, Davies suggested all department heads study their tentative figures to see if they could be reduced. Councilman Alexander said he would not say whether or not he would vote for an increase in millage until he knew definitely what the figures would be.

Judging from the remarks of Mayor-elect McGrath and Councilman-elect Myron Rice they do not propose to make any heavy additions to either the fire or the police departments. If they can get along with present equipment indications are they will do so. Rice is to confer with Safety Director Davies whom he will succeed and Mayor-elect McGrath will confer with Mayor Mayne this morning. In these conversations the old members and incoming members will go over the various items that may be needed next year.

The incoming members have adopted the attitude that the present council should compile the budget as low as possible and that they should not be asked to make the appropriations. Finance Director Hoyland said yesterday that the present council wants to make a budget that will prove satisfactory to the incoming members. Mayor-elect McGrath intimated that it was his belief that the present members should have first presented as low a budget as it was possible for the city to get along with, following which the purported needs, such as new firemen, police and equipment could be discussed.

(International News Service) Havana, Dec. 3.—President Harold Willis Dodds of Princeton University arrived here from Miami, Fla., by airplane to direct arbitration of Cuba's presidential election difficulties.

SHOULD CUT DOWN INDIGENT BIRTHS

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—Nearly 3,000,000 Pennsylvania children lack education facilities although the state spends $8,000,000 annually for the births of more children in indigent families, Mrs. Rose Mitzmiller, General secretary of the Pennsylvania birth control league declared here.

The 3,000,000 have been deprived of all or part of their schooling since 1933, she charged, because funds were lacking for education in rural areas.

Plan To Analyze Internal Organs

Will Probe Organs Of Children Taken By Mysterious Poisoning

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Still puzzled over the causes which took the lives of two Homestead children, County chemist Frank C. Buckmaster today prepared to analyze internal organs of Albert Brugas, 8, the latest victim, who died Saturday apparently as a result of poisoned food.

Albert's death was the second among three Brugas children stricken after partaking of the same meal. Margaret, 2, his sister, died shortly after she was taken to a hospital while the third victim, Edward, 6, was reported to be "holding his own."

BIRTH RATE BOOMS IN PENNSYLVANIA

HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—The birth rate for 1935 is definitely increasing, according to a statement issued today by the State Department of Health.

An all-time low for births in Pennsylvania was reached in 1933 with a rate of 16.1 per 1000 population. A total of 79,878 live births at a rate of 16.4 per 1000 population was recorded for the first half of 1935. This increase in the rate continues to date, according to the State Health Department's bureau of vital statistics. The gradual upturn in employment, as well as more marriages, are given as the apparent reasons for the favorable change.

SOME PROJECTS NOT APPROVED

Educational And Recreational W. P. A. Projects Delayed At Harrisburg

For some reason, unknown to the local Works Progress Administration offices, several projects which have been in Harrisburg for weeks are as yet not approved to start. Among these are the educational and recreational projects and the military history of Lawrence County.

The first named projects will absorb a number of instructors. The projects were under way last winter and were found to be worth while. Sometime in September the setup was perfected here and the project sent to Harrisburg. They have not been returned as yet.

The military history will absorb about 25 men who will be engaged in compiling the history of Lawrence County residents in all the wars in which the United States engaged. This also has been sent in for about seven weeks but as yet has not been approved.

Society Girl in Spotlight After Don Juan's Murder

"I don't think I'm the most important figure in this case," affirms Mary Swope Philpot, 17, New York heiress estranged from her husband, who was questioned by New City, N. Y., police after Leroy Smith, village Don Juan, was found dead near the country home of Mrs. Philpot's mother and step-father. Police advanced theory that Smith was slain by jealous suitor of Mrs. Philpot, but she says, "After all, Leroy knew many other girls than me." These photos were made in her New York home. SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Dec. 3.—Heavy damage resulted when cars driven by Mrs. Mary Sell Anderson of Freeport and Michael Grana of Swissvale crashed a half-mile south of Slippery Rock on the Slippery Rock-Butler highway. ## For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Remedy at Home

No Cooking! No Work! Real Saving!

You'll never know how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive results. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and it's a much better remedy. It never spoils and tastes fine. Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in distressing coughs. Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its soothing effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Convention Here Brought To Close

Pentecostal Young People
Honor Rev. J. Roswell
Flower At Last

A warm farewell to Rev. J. Roswell Flower, of Lititz, Pa., superintendent of the eastern district, Assemblies of God, was given by the pastors and delegates of Pentecostal churches of Western Pennsylvania and New York states, Saturday evening, at the closing session of a three day convention for young people, in the local First Pentecostal church.

Rev. Flower will close his work as superintendent of the eastern district (which includes all of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware) and will assume his new duties as secretary of the general council at Springfield, Mo., headquarters of the Assemblies of God, at the first of the year. The appointment, which is a promotion, was made at the annual conference in Texas last September.

Mrs. Flower, who has had charge of the Summer Bible School at Green Lane, Pa., and who has been active among the young people of the four-state district, was also honored at the final session here.

Rev. Elmer Van Meter, pastor of the Hi-Way Tabernacle, at Philadelphia, is assistant superintendent of the district, and will take over Rev. Flower's duties until the new superintendent is named.

Rev. Flower gave the final address of the convention. Rev. Boston W. Turner, local pastor, and others gave addresses of farewell to the departing couple.

The convention was a very successful one and attracted 200 pastors and delegates and a crowd of between 400 and 500 people at the evening sessions. There were a number of visitors from Ohio present at the closing meeting.

Lawther Holds Floor Clinic At New Wilmington

Upwards Of 100 Coaches Attend Basketball Clinic At Westminster Gym

Upwards of 100 Lawrence county high school coaches, assistant coaches, faculty managers and players attended the basketball clinic held at Westminster college gym last night by Head Coach John D. Lawther.

The clinic proved the finest of its kind ever held in this district and was very beneficial to the high school coaches of the county. Phil H. Bridenbaugh, president of the coaches association, headed the coaches in their pilgrimage to New Wilmington.

Lawther had three teams on the court last night, and went through various plays and explained in minutest detail everything that a basketball coach should do.

The zone-defense, man-for-man defense, guard switching, various types of blocks and the famous Westminster offense were explained and played out by the various teams on the floor.

Rules Explained. Lawther pointed out new rules for the 1935-36 season and explained them. He also showed several out-of-bound plays.

Cal Bolster was unable to attend the meeting last night owing to the serious illness of his daughter. He was to have explained the new rules of the coaches.

Coaches were present from all parts of the county.

Thornhill Will Watch Mustangs

Stanford Coach Going To Texas For Information On Opponents

By WALLACE K. RAWLES
International News Service Sports Writer

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 3.—Preparations went forward rapidly today for the annual New Year's Day Rose Bowl game in which stolid Stanford will meet the fiery and tricky football team of Southern Methodist University.

Alfred Masters, Stanford graduate manager, opened offices here to conduct the ticket sale. Selection by Stanford of the Mustangs met with popular approval in Southern California and it was indicated 90,000 or more fans would witness the classic.

Take Game Seriously

Showing how seriously Stanford views the game and how badly it desires victory over the fast passing Mustangs, Claude E. "Tiny" Thornhill at Stanford announced he would travel to College Station, Texas, to watch S. M. U. play Texas A. & M. in its final conference game.

Stanford has been beaten in its last two appearances in the Rose Bowl, by Columbia and Alabama, and the team desires to improve its record through victory over S. M. U. "The Stanford team is considering this game with the utmost seriousness," Masters said, "and it has every hope for victory."

He added the players were considerably "steamed up" and probably would turn in their best game of the season.

Notre Dame System Is Given Setback

Not One Of Notre Dame System Teams Win Championship

Layden Satisfied With 1935 Rambling Ramblers Seven Victories

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Nobody else seems to have attached the slightest importance to the incident. They said Fordham beat N. Y. U., everything was just a game and wasn't it a scream the way N. Y. U. tried those comical plays on its own goal line? Then they folded their typewriters and went happily hence, with never a backward glance.

But I've been moved to wonder, for upward of a week, without much time for any random, free-style wondering, whether it didn't mean a great deal that Jimmy Crowley used a line shift as the basis of the Fordham attack. Perhaps it wasn't the first time this shift was used.

I'm not even concerned with its legality. As a matter of fact, it seemed highly illegal in its time, and why Dr. Stevens didn't do something about it between the halves, I don't know, and undoubtedly neither does Dr. Stevens.

New Line Shift

The line shift was important only as a symbol. It seemed possible that it marked the beginning of the end of the so-called Notre Dame system, as we've seen it and known it for 15 years. Perhaps this is a mistaken idea. Perhaps, indeed, it's all wrong and the trouble with me is I don't understand that widespread defeat is only an expression of the fact that the Notre Dame system, throughout America, is working better than ever. Perhaps I'm wrong in thinking that some of the Notre Dame systems haven't been playing around with innovations.

All I know, in fact, is that this is the first time in some years that a Notre Dame system team has dominated football neither nationally nor sectionally. The nearest approach to the latter is Eddie Anderson's undefeated Holy Cross team, which in the final ranking had to yield in the east to Princeton.

Dutch Bergman did well with seven victories and one defeat at Catholic university, but it didn't play a major schedule. Among those who did were three of the Four Horsemen—Crowley at Fordham, Layden at Notre Dame and Stuhldreher at Villanova. Layden, in fact, is generally credited with bringing the Rockne tradition back to South Bend, but I doubt if he, personally, would agree with this estimate of his 1935 team.

No Attacking Line. It lacked an attacking line, I think, and without that, Notre Dame football stops and Notre Dame football becomes something else. Piley, a highly individual runner, made a tremendous difference but this hardly reacted to the credit of the team.

Layden's record was 7 won, 1 lost and 1 tied and I surmise he was well satisfied since his team had to go all over the air to beat Ohio State and tie the Army. Otherwise, it was a sluggish attacking outfit. It seemed, in fact, that the old manœuvres were not bringing about desired results, even as they didn't under "Hunk" Anderson.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Two years ago he was in woe, having been fired as coach of the Texas A. & M. football team, but today Matty Bell, coach of the Southern Methodist grid team, is basking in the limelight and his team will play in the Rose bowl.

The great heart that carried Mickey Walker, the toy bulldog of pugilism, to fistic heights was all that carried him seven punishing rounds last night against Eric Seelig of Germany in a New York ring. In the seventh, with his heart willing but his frame covered with gore, the fight was stopped and Seelig declared the winner.

Jimmy Fox, the Athletics' first baseman, said at Philadelphia last night that any club that buys him from the A's will have to revise his salary and the revision must be upward. He declared that when he signed last with the A's he did so to help them out of financial trouble. He further stated that he did not receive what he believed he was entitled to.

Joe Louis believes he will stop Paulino Uzcudun in three rounds when they meet in New York. Cornell alumni and undergraduates are after the scalp of Gil Dobie, coach. Cornell has won only six games this season. Altoona has been declared champion of the Western conference of the P. I. A. A. and will play Ashland, champions of the Eastern conference, at Altoona on Saturday.

St. Pauls Team Tops Third U. P., Mahonings Win

St. Paul Lutherans Take 24 To 18 Victory, Presbyterians Win

MAHONINGS TOP FIRST M. E. FIVE

St. Paul's Lutheran church basketball team coached by Norman Buckingham opened the 1935-36 New Castle Church Class A league at the Y. M. C. A. floor last night by taking the measure of the strong Third U. P. team 24 to 18. The First Presbyterian team defeated the Tifereth Israel five 28 to 11, and the Mahoning Presbyterian handed the First M. E. team a 21 to 17 upset.

The playing of G. Binder, W. Snyder and Grief was the outstanding feature of the St. Paul's victory, these three boys accounting for 21 of the points. At the half the Buckingham coached team led 13 to 9. Hahn and Mann were the best for the Third U. P. team with 12 of the points. St. Pauls are newcomers to church basketball and judging from last night, they are going to make a name for themselves.

Presbyterians Win

Another new team in church basketball circles is the First Presbyterian church team, with the North Jefferson street boys taking the measure of the Tifereth Israel A team 28 to 11, and leading at the half 15 to 5. Thomas, McCormick, Sigler and Baron were the big stars of the game.

The Mahoning Presbyterians won from the First M. E. 21 to 17 with Cunningham, Rogovin and Grassel the big shots in the Seventh Ward lineup, and with Lockey and Clark the best for the Methodists. At the half the Mahonings led 8 to 6.

Referee—Shaffer.
Crowley May Lose Post At Fordham
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Whether Jim Crowley is to be retained as football coach at Fordham University will be decided within a few days, it was indicated today.

Crowley's three year contract with the school expires this year. Asked if there were any possibility of Fordham's seeking a new grid coach, Graduate Manager Jack Coffey, said:

"There will be a meeting within a few days, and something definite will come out of that." Coffey admitted, however, that no other coaches had been considered for the post.

Crowley himself said: "I hope to be at Fordham next year. I think everything will come out all right."

Death Takes Five Hunters In State, Deer Season Opens

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 3.—Death turned on five of their fellows the first day, but big-game hunting enthusiasts who had failed to get their deer struck out hopefully throughout Pennsylvania at the crack of dawn again today.

Three of the opening days' fatalities were the result of accidental shootings. The other two victims died of heart attacks.

Youth Killed

First of the army of nimrods to fall was 16-year-old Kenneth Warlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Warlow, of Reberton. Struck by a stray bullet while hunting with his father and a party of friends in Clark's Valley, the youth died from loss of blood after being rushed to a doctor's office in Tower City.

Another 16-year-old hunter, Leo Reimert, of Bernville, R. D. 1, Berks county, was killed by a "pumpkin ball" shot when he slipped from a rock, discharging his shotgun. The third victim was N. T. Yingling, 70, of Westover, found shot through the chest in the woods in Clinton county. He apparently had been struck by a stray bullet. His loaded gun was found at his side.

Governor Gets Deer

Generally heavy kills were reported from the state's favorite big-game sections. Gov. George H. Earle himself showing the way by downing an eight-point buck at a hunting camp near Ridgway. U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey, hunting with the governor, had a "six-pointer" to show for his day in the woods.

Alumni Defeats New Wilmington

High School Tossers Lose To Stars Of Former Days In College Town

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 3.—Unable to match the stride set by the powerful alumni team, Coach John Eagleson's blue and gold five met their first defeat of the year 44-21. The alumni took the lead in the first minutes of play and at no time during the game was the score close.

The high school outfit was led by Axe, first string guard, who netted eight points. Verrier was next in line with five, while White, Davis and Patton had two points each. Baker and Means each had one foul to their credit completing the 21 points.

For the alumni the playing of "Bobbie" Eagleson was outstanding. Eagleson totaled 14 points. The other points were divided among the other former stars who saw action. The game throughout was rough with a total of 31 personal fouls being called by Tom Hutchinson, referee.

In the preliminary game the alumni girls trounced the high school squad 51-36. Foul shooting for the high school lost the game as a total of 17 fouls were missed by the high school. Jane Evers scored heavy for the alumni having a total of 22 points. For the high school the playing of Betty Sampson was outstanding.

Grove City Floor Squad Numbers 20. Grid Men Report

Coach Bob Thorn Starts 16th Year At Helm In Grove City

GROVE CITY, Dec. 3.—Bob Thorn's sixteenth year at the helm of Grove City College basketball is due to start tonight, when half a dozen football players will report for their first practice. Thorn has been working for a month with underclassmen, teaching fundamentals, and weeding out candidates not yet ready for varsity competition until now he has a squad of about 20 players to start the intensive work of preparation for the season. No games are scheduled until January but the Crimson mentor will need every available minute to build new combination.

The material is better this year than for several seasons, Thorn reports, but the weakness lies in an absolute lack of veterans. Tomko, Soich, and Trembath were graduated in June, and Patterson failed to enter school this fall, taking every experienced performer who played last year. The only "veterans" remaining are Johnny Chatham of Pittsburgh, Donahue of Franklin, and Swanson of Long Island all with only one season's experience. Only Chatham was a regular last year.

Several promising youngsters were their bid for varsity berths in the pre-season work, and Thorn is counting several of the football players to become fixtures on the team. Swanson is to report for his second season tonight, and his size makes him the logical candidate for the vacant center position. Ray Esbolen, Jack Grove City boy with considerable independent court experience, will make his first bid for a varsity position, as well as a number of others, including the Petach brothers, Bingham, Bob Frew, and several other promising freshmen.

Thirty Report For Basketball At Senior High

New Castle Will Open Season On December 19 With Sharon High Here

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will have a squad of 30 young aspirants facing him in the next few days as the New Castle high "Red Hurricanes" take up the business of basketball. The first game of the year for New Castle will be on December 19 with Sharon high here.

Thirteen Veterans

There are about 13 veterans from last year on the squad. Of the varsity players of last year, Toscano, Carik, Mumford and Covelli are left. H. Koszela and Nahas are gone.

Ralph H. Gardner, faculty manager and basketball expert, has had charge of the high squad during football season, and has brought the boys along in fine style. He has several promising boys to turn over to Coach Bridenbaugh.

Mother Asks Help In Locating Son

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 3.—Spurred by a mother's appeal, authorities today sought clues which would lead to the whereabouts of Charles Verne Baxter, University of Pittsburgh football end who has been missing since October 11.

Believed to be suffering from a mental ailment, Baxter was last heard from on October 19 when he communicated with W. Don Harrison, Pitt athletic director, from Miami, Fla.

Baxter has disappeared several times before, but never for long a period. A promising end, Baxter failed to show up last year for the Minnesota game, and while Pitt was suffering its only setback of the year, he was reported enjoying a movie. He reported to his fraternity house that night. He disappeared for three weeks this year as the football season opened.

Walker Kayoed By Eric Seelig

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Sports followers wondered today whether they had seen the last ring appearance of the veteran middle-weight Mickey Walker, following his seven round kayo by Eric Seelig, German contender, last night.

Walker gave an excellent account of himself until the middle of the sixth round, when Seelig (Ca) connected with a swinging right which opened a cut over his left eye. Blood from the injury handicapped the veteran in the seventh, and the referee stopped the fight in 2:31.

The bout was scheduled for ten rounds. Ringside observers said Walker earned at least three of the first six.

She hopes soon to get her pilot's license. They have a private aerodrome at their Vienna home, Castle Sonnburg.

GROVE CITY, Dec. 3.—Bob Thorn's sixteenth year at the helm of Grove City College basketball is due to start tonight, when half a dozen football players will report for their first practice. Thorn has been working for a month with underclassmen, teaching fundamentals, and weeding out candidates not yet ready for varsity competition until now he has a squad of about 20 players to start the intensive work of preparation for the season. No games are scheduled until January but the Crimson mentor will need every available minute to build new combination.

The material is better this year than for several seasons, Thorn reports, but the weakness lies in an absolute lack of veterans. Tomko, Soich, and Trembath were graduated in June, and Patterson failed to enter school this fall, taking every experienced performer who played last year. The only "veterans" remaining are Johnny Chatham of Pittsburgh, Donahue of Franklin, and Swanson of Long Island all with only one season's experience. Only Chatham was a regular last year.

Strong Supporting
InfluenceBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The stock market developed a steadier tone today with strength in coppers an important supporting influence.

International Nickel rose more than 2 points to a new high. Gains running to a point and more also were scored by a number of other issues, including Western Union, Celanese and Case Threshing.

Steels were sluggish despite the new rise in the industry's operations to the highest level in a year and a half. Bethlehem was down nearly a point at one time. U. S. Steel showed better support.

Rails were inclined to edge higher. Fears over a default by the cotton belt, however, restricted the group.

Motors improved and accessories were stronger. Utilities were quiet.

Oils were inclined to sag. Farm implements displayed an improved technical position. Liquors and rubbers were quiet.

Cotton rallied over $1 a bale on the new restriction program. Grains were dull. Bonds were mixed, with governments up and cotton belt issues down more. Gold currencies were quiet.

SISTER OF KING
GEORGE IS DEADPrincess Victoria, Aged 67,
Dies As Result Of Long Illness

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 3.—King George V, who has been in indifferent health himself for years, was deeply shocked today and the court was ordered into mourning by the death of Princess Victoria, the elder of his two sisters.

Princess Victoria, who was 67, three years younger than the king, had been ill for weeks, and a blood transfusion yesterday failed to save her after a stomach hemorrhage. "She had a peaceful death," a bulletin signed by her physicians said.

Once fifth in line of succession for the throne, Princess Victoria never married, but spent a quiet life in charity work, which won her the name of "The Unselfish Princess."

The King's other sister, Queen Maud of Norway, was summoned from Sandringham, the king's country palace in east Anglia.

All social events have been cancelled, and the king did not attend the opening of Parliament today.

trol In Sensational Rescues At Reading

Utterly disregarding their own safety, two state highway patrolmen, one of them J. Lee Clarke of New Castle, rescued four workers on the new Ontelaunee dam near Reading on November 29, according to Reading newspapers.

With a colleague John W. Zack, Clarke was patrolling the section near Temple, Pa., when an explosion occurred. Four workers were using a concrete gun to shoot liquid concrete into forms that had been built. The new water course will carry water to the Reading filter plant. The nozzle of the gun jammed and one of the men tapped it. It exploded hurling them across the tunnel and covering them with a bath of concrete.

Clarke and Zack hurried to the scene of the accident and extricated the men from their dangerous position. Zack dropped down an opening and after four trips brought the men to the surface. Clarke and Zack administered first aid and then took the men to the hospital. Mr. Clarke is a New Castle man who has been in the state highway patrol for several years.

Economy Axe May Not Swing

"Can't Let People Starve," Says Rep. Edward Taylor Of Colorado

CONGRESS FACES DIFFICULT TASK

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Rep. Edward Taylor of Colorado, acting Democratic leader of the House, today expressed doubt that the economy axe will be swung deeply in the forthcoming session of congress. Although Taylor has frequently stood shoulder to shoulder with Chairman Buchanan (D) of Texas, of the house appropriations committee, he refused to commit himself in advance on the question of economy.

"Of course we are all for economy but you can't let people starve," said Taylor.

Not Prepared
"The states are not prepared to take over direct relief. I have a telegram from the governor of Colorado asking for aid. The governors may call legislatures into session and they may refuse to appropriate the money."

"You can't cut off aid for the unemployed and needy without having real trouble in the country."

He said congress faces a difficult task in reversing the process of the federal government providing for the rest of the nation.

Weekly Health Talks

EXCEEDING THE SPEED LIMIT

"The other evening a leading manufacturer was lamenting the automobile's killing power. In his discussion he blamed speed for most of the damage. In fact he was very critical of the urge for speed which, as he said, 'Now seems to possess nearly everyone.' What he neglected to observe, however, was that, in his own way, he was an outstanding violator of the speed law himself," states Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, state secretary of health.

"While this gentleman was a careful driver of his motor car, he was nevertheless inordinately proud of his high-powered qualities. He did not believe in vacations or relaxation. Hard work and plenty of it was his motto. Today, he is suffering from a general and very serious breakdown."

"Convinced that he was a super man, he imagined he could drive himself the way he drove the machines in his plant. Up at 6 each morning, he speeded through breakfast, drove ten miles to work in his automobile, smoked incessantly, worked in high gear all day, habitually and speedily ate more food than he needed, pepped himself up with stimulants, and was lucky to average seven hours' sleep each night."

"In spite of his money-making ability and general intelligence he was thus continually forcing his body to perform at an excessive rate; a very unsafe form of speeding, indeed."

"Nature's laws are quite flexible within certain limitations. Moreover, in many instances of habitual abuse, she apparently offers no complaint—up to a certain point. However, when her limit has been reached she demands her fee. Decisive and swift penalties follow."

"Consequently, it does not pay anyone to exceed the speed limit physically. And this by no means signifies that one must become unreasonably afraid to do strenuous things. As a matter of fact, the average healthy person can do what he wants to do within reason. It is the constant day in and day out over-pressure that has its calamitous cumulative effect."

"Gearing one's ambitions, habits and recreations to bodily requirements is playing the safe and healthy game. Unduly speeding either the body or the automobile is hazardous. The wise person in both instances will stay within the limits."
